

Mind Maps

Mind Mapping can be used with children or young people for personal planning, service evaluation or policy making.

The child/young person can think up their own themes or they can be asked to consider specific things. Below are some examples.

